Intensive In-home Services Statewide Overview

Introduction

Intensive In-home Services (IIS) are intensive, short-termed, home based, crisis intervention services offering families in crisis the alternative to remain safely together, averting the out-of-home placement of children whenever possible. The IIS program combines skill-based intervention with maximum flexibility so that services are available to families according to their unique needs. Among other services, family members may receive individual and family counseling, parenting education, child development training, household maintenance education, nutritional training, job readiness training, and referral to other community resources. Services provided are focused upon assisting in crisis management and restoring the family to an acceptable level of functioning.

IIS is based upon the belief that families can, through intervention, learn to nurture their children, improved their functioning, and gain support within their community to enable the family to remain safely together. The goal of IIS is to protect children through the enhancement of family capabilities. The IIS program is available throughout the state. Intensive In-home Services are provided to families that have a child or children at imminent risk of removal from the home due to abuse, neglect, family violence, mental illness, emotional disturbance, juvenile status offense, juvenile delinquency, or other such circumstances.

The following report is based on an analysis of statewide data regarding children and families served with IIS during state fiscal year 2001 (July 1, 2000 - June 30, 2001).

Families and Children Accepted

An IIS specialist works with accepted families to prevent the removal of a child or children from the home. The children at-risk for out-of-home placement are referred to as at-risk children. During FY 2001, the total number of families accepted in IIS was 1,654. The total number of children accepted into IIS from these families was 4,368. Seventy-eight percent (3,389) of the total number of children accepted were considered at-risk. On average, families accepted into IIS were comprised of 2.6 total children and 2 at-risk children (Appendix A).

Families and Children Not Accepted

A total of 1,447 families including 2,618 at-risk children were referred for IIS during FY 2001 but were not accepted into the program (Appendix A and B). The most common reason (32%) that at-risk children were not accepted into IIS was due to lack of openings into the program with the children remaining at home.

Employment Status of Head of Household

Fifty-nine percent of the heads of households were either unemployed or only employed part-time as compared to almost 41 percent employed full-time (Appendix G).

Almost 68 percent of the 1,654 heads of households required help with parenting skills problems during FY 2001. The next most frequently addressed head of household problem was parent/child conflict at 44 percent (732) followed by communication at 33 percent (545), child neglect at 24 percent (392), and physical abuse at 18 percent (297).

At-risk Children Characteristics of Families Accepted

Most children accepted during FY 2001 fell into the age group of six to twelve years of age. An almost equal number of children were divided into the age groups of one to five years old or 13 years or older. Forty-two percent of the at-risk children were between six and twelve years of age, 25 percent were thirteen years or older and 25 percent were between one and five years of age. Only seven percent were less than one year of age or the age was not reported (Appendix I).

Intensive In-home Services During Fiscal Year 2001

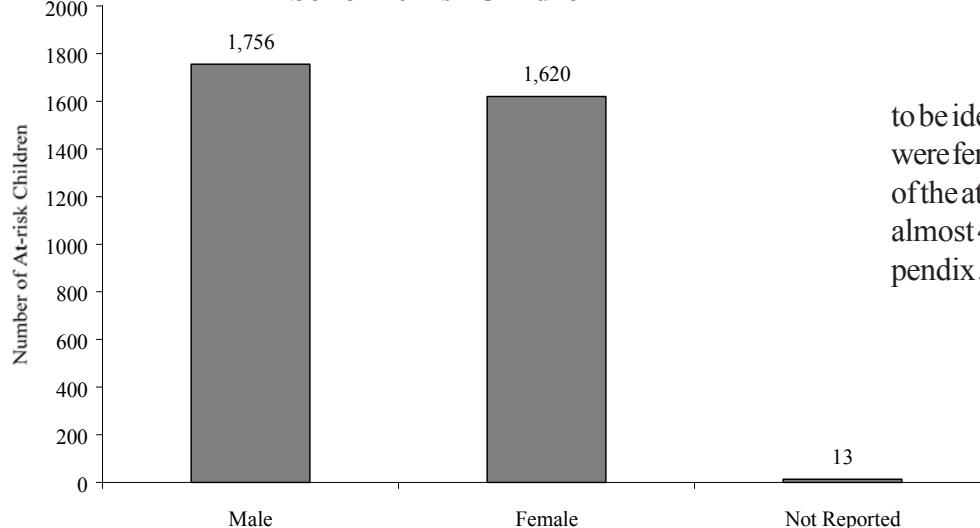

Race of At-risk Children

For FY 2001, 63 percent (2,133) of the at-risk children were white. Thirty-five percent (1,192) were black and almost two percent (64) were other races or were not reported (Appendix K).

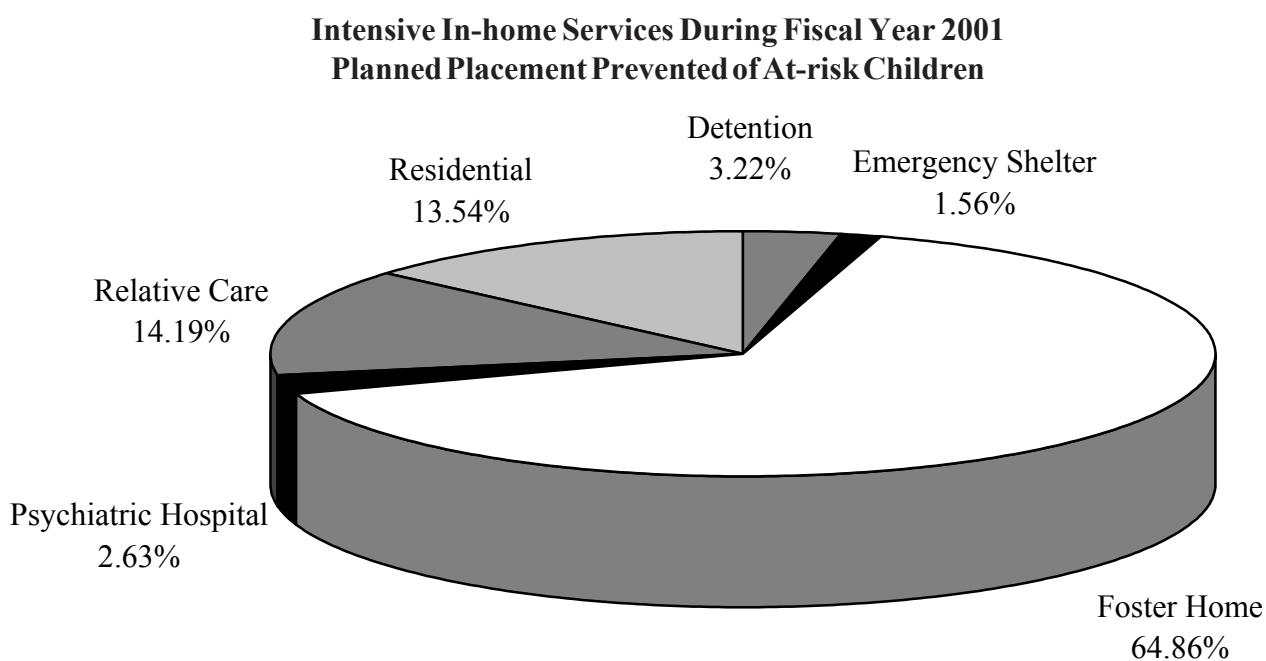

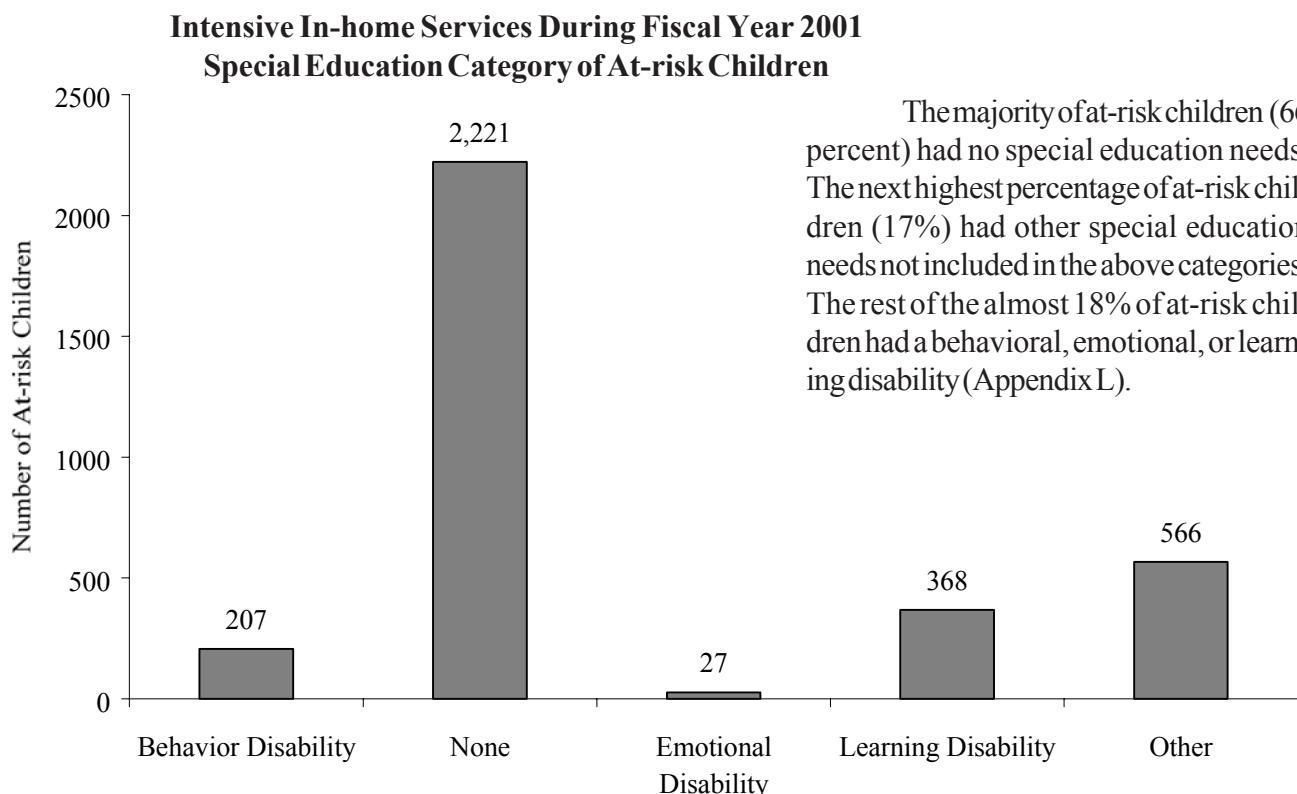

Intensive In-home Services During Fiscal Year 2001

Sex of At-risk Children

Males were slightly more likely to be identified as at-risk children than were females. Fifty-two percent (1,756) of the at-risk children were male while almost 48% (1,620) were female (Appendix J).

At-risk Children Characteristics of Families Accepted (continued)

Sixty-five percent of the at-risk children avoided placement into foster homes by receiving IIS. Without IIS, 14 percent of the at-risk children would have been placed with relatives, another 14 percent in residential placements, three percent in detention, three percent in psychiatric hospitals and two percent in emergency shelters (Appendix M).

At-risk Children Characteristics of Families Accepted (continued)

Thirty-seven percent (1,259) of at-risk children had Parent/Child Conflict issues as the most common problem addressed in IIS during FY 2001. The next most common problems addressed were Parenting Skills Problems at 28 percent (941) and Communication at 27 percent (929).

Prior Contacts

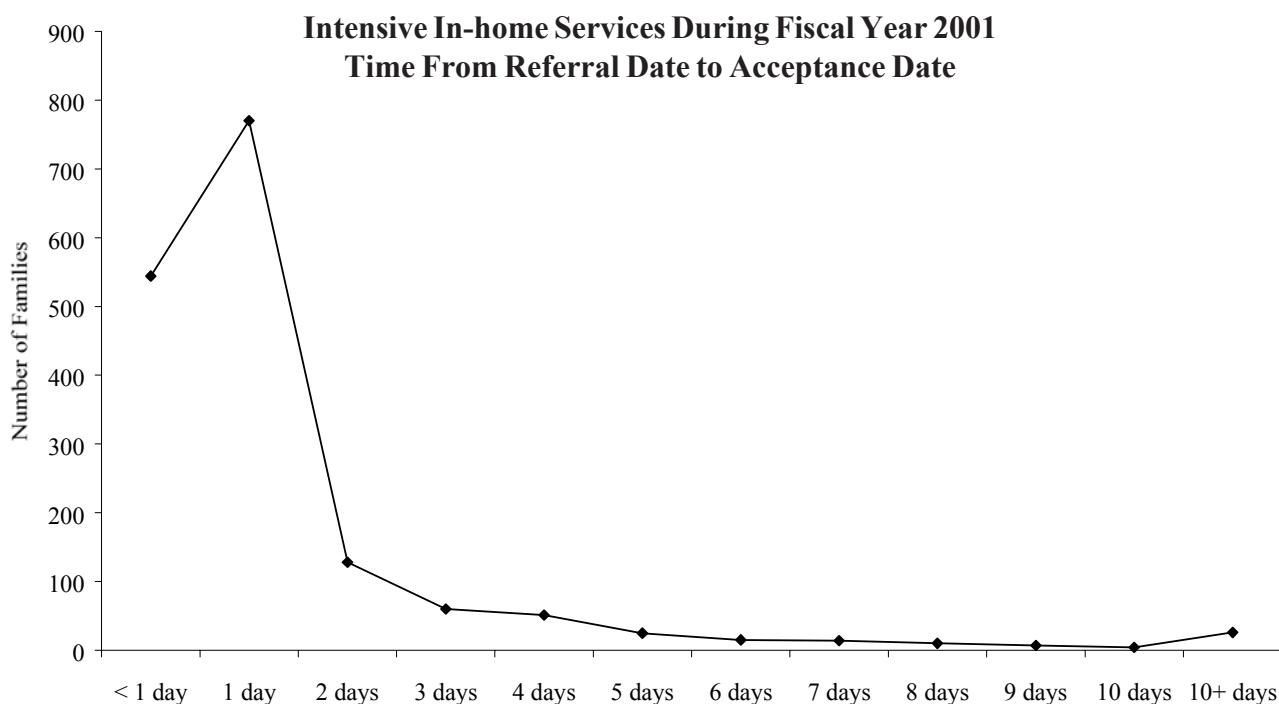

Of the 1,654 families accepted into IIS, 871 families had at least one contact with another agency prior to the IIS intervention. Those 871 families had a total of 1,482 prior contacts. Almost 49% of the prior contacts were with DFS, followed by 23% with the Juvenile Court.

Response Time

A family referred to IIS is first screened to determine the family's acceptance into the program. Once a family is accepted into IIS, an acceptance date is entered into the Intake Tracking System for that family and Intensive In-home Services begin. For the 1,654 families accepted into IIS, the average time between referral date to screen date was one day and the average time between screen date to acceptance date was 2.6 days. The total time between referral date to acceptance date averaged 1.4 days.

Total Weeks of Intervention

During FY 2001, the majority of families (72 percent) exited IIS within six weeks of acceptance into the program. The average length of intervention was 5.63 weeks.

Families and At-risk Children Exiting

Families and children who leave IIS during the fiscal year are considered to exit in one of the following categories: family intact, family not intact and other. Families are not intact if one of the following occurs: Child Ran Away, Child Moved Out of Home (not placed), Child Living with Relative or Guardian (not Court Ordered), Child Living with Relative or Guardian (Court Ordered), In Foster Home or Group Home, In Residential Treatment, With Division of Youth Services (DYS), In Juvenile Justice and In In-Patient Psychiatric Diversion). Other includes the following: Can't Locate Family, Information Not Available and Other. During FY 2001, 87 percent (1,419) of the 1,627 families and 89 percent (3,228) of at-risk children exiting IIS were reported to be in intact families. Twelve percent (192) of the families were not intact and one percent (16) of the families could not be located or information was not available (Appendix N).

Outcomes

The primary goal of IIS is to keep the at-risk child safely in their family home while improving family and child functioning. A child entering DFS or DYS alternative care during or after IIS intervention concerns the issues of family permanency and child functioning. Child safety is impacted if the child was a victim of a substantiated child abuse/neglect hotline during or after IIS intervention.

Children who exited IIS during FY 2000 were checked to see if they had entered DFS or DYS custody or if they were a victim of a substantiated child abuse/neglect hotline during IIS intervention or within 12 months of exiting IIS. FY 2000 exits were used to give all the children exiting enough time to see if the events had occurred.

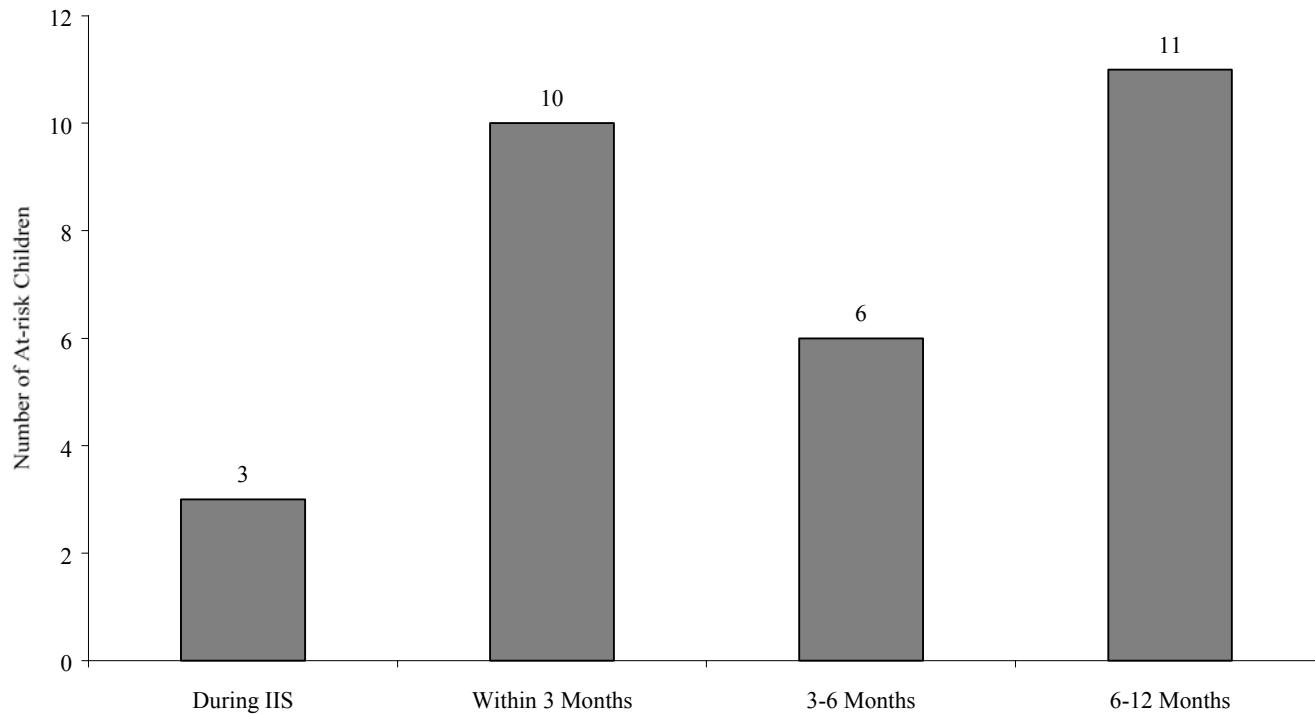

During FY 2000, 3,257 at-risk children exited IIS. Tracking those children during the IIS intervention and for the 12 months following the exit of their IIS intervention, 22% (732) entered DFS custody and one percent (30) entered DYS custody. Thirty-seven percent (1,197) of the children were reported as a victim, during that time, of a child abuse/neglect report concluded to be probable cause for child abuse/neglect.
